

Nowadays the way many people interact with each other has changed because of technology. In what ways has technology affected the types of relationships people make? Has this become a positive or negative development?

In the world of high tech everything ~~is are~~ changing day by day. The way of communication is one of the most important issues, that has ~~an~~ extremely changed these days. From my point of view the advantages of this development outweigh the drawbacks.

There is no doubt that the technology of communication brings us so many facilities in many terms such as relationships, business, education and also as well as social life. First of all, the applicants for higher education do not to pay so much money and consume so much energy and time ~~travelling to travel~~ around the world for being more expert. There are many online courses with high quality that each of the applicant can apply and achieve their goals. Besides, nowadays many the universities evaluates their students via Skype.

Secondly, the famous and biggest companies prefer to hold a meeting through ~~the~~ Facetime or other social networks. Since the CEO of the well-known companies are constantly on a business trip, LinkedIn provides some opportunities for them to share their experiences and results consequences of their jobs. Furthermore, it is an extraordinary benefits beneficial for headhunters to attract appeal the most more talented person for some special occasions. Moreover, for one who is looking for a career it is the best opportunity to share the CV throughout these social networks.

Thirdly, people can make new friends via Facebook or even stay in touch with people they might otherwise lose contact. Likewise, sharinge common interests in some services namely Telegram is another advantage of using these applications. In addition, these types of services help people to maintain their relationships even in long distance. However, many elder people are puzzled by these changes and they do not seem to learn how to use this these new technology. Fortunately, the number of these kinds of people is are not in comparison with the knowledgeable ones. Further, we should not omit the face-to-face communication due to the humanitarian sense.

In conclusion, it is a real fact that we have an urgent progress in terms of interaction with each other and it could promote the lifestyle of each of us to live in the a best environment.
