1. Could be beneficial to educate the public this way
2. Anything we do to raise awareness of this issue
3. is worthwhile
4. The more educated people are, the more advantageous it is for the environment
5. It would be pointless, futile
6. People don't read leaflets
7. Handing them out would be futile
8. Not only would it be a futile exercise
9. But it would also create more litter
10. An unattainable goal
11. It would prove impracticable
12. Unfeasible to imagine that ...
13. Aware of the impact we are having on the environment
14. It is conceivable we will have solved the problem soon
15. It is quite feasible that we will be driving electric cars
16. They are a viable alternative to petrol-driven cars
17. Getting rid of pollution is achievable
18. It is improbable that everyone will abandon the chemicals we are using now
19. So many people have been using them for years
20. It is questionable whether they will be able to convince everyone to stop
21. I'd say this one is very doubtful
22. Cleaning products that are eco-friendly
23. Governments are liable to put pressure on manufacturers to produce more products like these
24. It is quite probable that within 10 years everyone will have made the switch
