

Some people think that parents should teach children how to be good members of society. Others, however, believe that school is the place to learn this.

Discuss both these views and give your opinion.

Education is one of the essential aspects of human beings in any field especially since civilization that it has appeared in the form of organizations namely school, not only for teaching children in a variety of skills but also for learning how they should perform in society. Some believes that tutoring children in order to be qualified members is the responsibility of schools, while7 others advocate that family's role is irreplaceable and has the most powerful impact in this regard.

Family as the first component of society has an undeniable impact on shaping it's-its foundation. It is worth mentioning that according to statistics 70 percent of humankind's personality and his/their lifelong attitudes had been shaped before the age of three, which means every action and behavior is absorbed s and its consequences become visible after a while,7 even parents' tone of speaking influences a child's levels of going on well with others and his social intelligence .

On the other hand, worthy ~~worth full~~ characteristics such as, respecting others, integrity ~~veracity~~ and reliability ~~being reliable~~, even the level of accepting responsibility which was learned in family shows their proof in bigger groups such as school because of providing experimental situations for conforming social actions and simultaneously confronting reactions for final decisions and that is when educators could play their role. Meanwhile, having the position of an educational organization with a more serious atmosphere than home and existence of competition could lead their members to their preferred perspective and influencing their reactions.

All in all, in order to educate children as a society's ~~societies'~~ future builder,2 cooperation between family and school-based d s training is necessary. Each of them has great influence on the other one and the cycle continues with ~~by a the~~ speed that each of those joins ~~to~~ the other one's action.
