

Some people are of the opinion that prisons are basically universities of crime, fostering the kind of behaviour they aim to eradicate, and are, therefore, not effective. Others feel that prison life is not hard enough. Discuss the arguments on both sides of the issue . what is own opinion on the matter ?

In every society there are many people with different treatments . The people who act according to their needs and situations .Some choose societie's acceptable ways some other choose wrong way . The jail houses came to punish people with rude manners .

Some people believe the prisons' atmosphere can affect prisoners and change them to professional ~~crime-criminals~~ , therefore , living with criminals for a while can have an awful influence on a prisoner's perspective ~~on~~ of crime .Not only Listening and talking about killing , swindling , stealing and other kinds of illegal manners can change everyone to a criminal but also can make fade the sense of guilty of committing a crime in prisoners fade.

~~In the other side on the other hand~~, there are people who believe prisons are useful places for criminals to correct their illicit/unlawful/illegal offensive behaviors . They're not disgusting as claimed known because of free food , not responsibility about tax and tasks and no need to work for money. Also people who choose legal/decent/law-abiding lgal life can live in a safer and more convenient easier society .

In my opinion , both two groups are right_ we can leave criminals to live in society with another people and prisons' influences on them are ~~peritactable~~ predictable too .We should create a new generation of prisons .The new places where offenders are taught teach and improve new skills and their ability .Instead of wasting time in prisons for their punishments , goverments can engage participate them in for labour-intensive tasks .For instance they can help for constructing roads ,building schools and hospitals .Another subject I'd like to reflect is the period when prisoners come out of the jail . Without supporting and helping them to find a job and gaining money they turn into their crime life again and we ~~can~~ cannot suppose they live in a lgal way.
