

Agree/Disagree

The most important factor that influences students' success is a good teacher.

'School is the second home for youngsters ~~youngestrs~~.' This sentence-statement is not too strange to people who live in modern societies. Statistics reveal young people allocate ~~are-attended to their study's processes-mare~~ more than a third ~~1/3~~ of their time to their studies. On the other hand, these processes are associated with ~~to~~ reward and punishment systems to evaluate students. Therefore, it is important for almost all students to prosper and thrive ~~for almost all students~~. But how can they ~~can~~ achieve success? I do believe that besides every element, instructors play the main role in students' prosperity. In this essay I illustrate my point of view and my reasons.

The First and most important factor refers to a sense of study and students' feeling. Every successful person needs to be interested in ~~to~~ the field which he/she is attending ing ~~ed to~~, and so do the students. Simply put, saying students should like to participate in their educational activities in the first step and I can imagine how a happy and energetic teacher fascinated ~~ing~~ with his or her field of study can encourage students. I can remember some of my teachers who turned my meaningless compulsory commute ~~transition~~ between home and school to a voluntary ~~valantory~~ innate desire to participation.

Second is about the role of a real guider. Educating like ~~lake~~ many other things is a way that students should pass it by their own pattern. A real instructor guides his or her students to find their own right way so that they can thrive uniquely. For instance, after years of studying, even PHD programs' students look for a qualified teacher to guide them.

Finally I like to note the exact position of mine in this case. Obviously there are several items affecting the prosperity of students including wealth, health, family, school quality, educational equipment and facilities and even classmates' characteristics. Hence, I emphasize the core point that a fine instructor is the most significant factor not the only ~~mare~~ one. To make a long story short, a successful students has been arrayed ~~arraid~~ with various representatives, but teachers play the main role.