

Do you agree or disagree with the following statement? Good teachers are more important to a child`s development than good parents.

In this era, education is one of the most important factors in human`s life. For being a successful person, a good teacher can help us strengthen our the motivation and knowledge.

However, good parents raise their children from birth and they spend more time with their children than teachers.

In the first place, parents can guide us better than anyone.

Because they know our weaknesses es and emotional conditions.

For example, when I had an exam my mother always sat beside me and tried to keep me calm and helped me to understand my lessons. In my opinion, mothers have the most important role.

On the other hand, some parents expect their offspring's s interests to be similar to their own. A group of parents always try to keep their children in an educational environment and as a result it reflects on their attitude. For instance, the father of the family is an engineer and an educated man. They insist that their boy that he must go to university and become an engineer too, but the boy is more successful in playing piano and literature. This boy can't be successful in university because he does not like to be an engineer.

In addition, the most important duty of a teacher is subjective knowledge. But good teachers who are capable of teaching what students need to learn and have a sense of responsibility try to help pupils' academic questions. Moreover, a good teacher has the capability to become a hero or a model for students. For example, a teacher who had ~~has~~ a sense of responsibility ~~humor~~ saved his students in a fire. Furthermore, Children are mirrors of their parents. Some parents take ~~show~~ their aggressiveness, frustration, and temper out on their child and these affects their behavior. These things are reflect~~eds-on~~ in their behavior as they grow~~s~~ up. Sometimes~~s~~ it crosses the line~~barrier~~ and strikes ~~reflects-on-the~~ society as a crime.

In a nutshell, parents are important teachers in our lives, but they are not always the best teachers. I believe that most people can think and choose the correct way/path/ approach ~~forming~~. Besides, good teachers are also important for a child to grow up and become successful.
