

How do movies or television influence people's behavior? Use reasons and specific examples to support your answer.

Movies are popular because people are great watchers. There is no doubt that movies and television play a major role in getting tiredness away from us. In my opinion, the media has deep influence in different forms like the general attitude, the view of eating and food and beauty.

First of all, humans are emotional. All of them likes to laugh or cry. For example, a group of people prefer watching comedy movies and laugh at night after a hard day work with their family. In addition, some people expect that their heroes and heroines to achieve great success in their careers, in love or other aspects of life when watching a movie and they can imagine it can happens in their lives.

Second, most women like watching cooking or beauty programs to learn how to cook new food or how to wear. Also, after watching these programs they take care to eat the right kind of food such as pasta and vegetables that will not increase the fat in body. Furthermore, some young girls and women usually pay attention to actresses'`s make up or their clothes. Often, they wear similar clothes or make up to play as a model to follow in their footsteps in society.

On the other hand, many movies and programs are violent. The more we see violence, the less sensitive we become.

Actors can be killed in a movie, news shows war, horrible accidents. Moreover, watching television make us less active. ~~The time spent~~ ~~When we spend~~ in front of the television is ~~when time that~~ we are not playing sport, walking and often we are eating junk food.

To wrap it up, Television is an important influence in modern life and it can be a valuable, educational tool. The influence can be in the form of learning new subjects, ~~whether~~ ~~wither~~ it is good or bad. I believe that people have to a plan for watching their favorite programs.
