

Do you agree or disagree with the following statement? Always telling the truth is the most important consideration in any relationship between people. Use specific reasons and examples

We all consider the truth to be the basis of any relationship. A candid candor individual can continue a relationship for a long time. But, the practice of always telling the truth can be an an important factor exaggeration in any affair of acting according to the law; We have all experienced circumstances in which telling the truth is not a good idea.

For example, assume your partner is so angry that she wants to engage in a fight with another person and you know it's an illogical decision she is making. You are the only one who knows this person's location. would you disclose his location by telling the truth. Anyone in their right mind wouldn't do that. Another example is when you are planning a surprise party for your partner. Obviously, in this case, telling the truth about what's going on will ruin the surprise!

Besides, there are some things which are more important than the truth. For instance, if telling lies would mean saving your life many would choose lying. Consider a spy; he can never tell the truth to his/her partner or even to others in his life since this can cause him to lose his job or even endanger his life.

However, We should note as well not to use this exception to tell lies that are always in favor of our actions. The only way to make the right choice between lying and sincerity/being sincere is to look deep inside and be honest with ourselves.

In conclusion, we can see that although in most of the times telling the truth is the best choice, it's not always so. However, But, that should not be an excuse for us to tell lies easily to justify ourselves for unimportant reasons.
