Nowadays many women are joining the police and military forces. However, some people believe that these jobs are not suitable for women. Discuss both views and give your own opinion.

Nowadays, recruiting ladies as militants is going to be a controversial issue among the families and experts. While there are persuasive arguments in favor of women's working in police and military forces, others believe that it is better to leave such a job for men. In this essay ~~we-I~~ will discuss both views and finally I will give my point of view. (this essay will discuss both views, presenting the author's view at the end)

Firstly, some claim that ~~in terms of both~~ emotionally and physically women are not compatible with this kind of occupation. For instance, they believe that ~~physique-wise physically-wise~~ working as a militant requires a special body performance which is not common among the women. On the other hand, they assert that being on combat missions in adverse conditions or camping in remote areas is a must for militants, while emotionally ~~-wise~~ women are required to be with their families, especially their child if they are mothers.

On the contrary, others assert that every individual ~~have~~ has the a right to choose their future jobs and with the advent of technology and new training methods it will be in hand and women are not exception. They believe that ladies can be trained to be adaptable ~~adoptable~~ to adverse circumstances in military forces. For example, with special training their both body and mental capability will be improved. On the other side, women are multi-taskers which is their advantages in comparison with men, so they easily are able to do tasks together. In addition, ladies are more disciplined which makes them ~~to~~ conduct some special tasks, such as documentary. Hence, from the perspective of proponents these abilities should be taken into ~~take it to~~ consideration in polices and military service, since this can improve their performances.

As a conclusion, from my point of view, ladies can play a vital role in military forces and their attendance because of their special character and ability would be beneficial for those organizations.
