

Who is your role model?

Mr. Bill gates is my role model, He was the owner of Microsoft Corporation and the richest man in the world

For a long time several times. He was born in 1955, Seattle, United States. he grew up in a middle-class family, he has had two sisters one of whom them is older and the other another is younger than him, his father's was a successful attorney and his father thought he would follow ed his major in the future ,his mother was athletic and she was the leader of student affairs in Washington university. Bill was doing well at school, he was interested in computer programming at age 13, and he was quite/extremely/very/so smart and hard-working in his major too. In the summer he He and his friend's 's work eding part time, actually he liked working as a computer programmer instead of learning at college only. He built founded/established/set up a valuable company since in 1975, now is the most valuable software company in the world.in 1994 Bill got married to with Melinda French; she is an organized woman and she is was a perfect match for him. They have three children, two daughters and a son.

They established a top 1 private foundation in the world, which The foundation program is active in consist of helping, training and protecting poor children, and also discovering unknown vaccine(Malaria, Aids) for them.

To In conclude, I chose him as my role model, because he has a lot of impressive characteristics: generosity, benevolence, diligence, cleverness, honesty, and patientcet.

Writer: Arash, English Student from Friday class

