

Do you agree or disagree with the following statement?

People benefit more from travelling in their home country than from travelling to foreign countries.

Deciding where to travel to is a number one question that comes ~~came~~ to our mind when we are thinking of a vacation. Many may opt for having a long trip ~~to~~ abroad. In my opinion travelling in your home country is much more advantageous due to the fact that not only does it provide a better economy growths for ~~the~~ society, but also the costs are less expensive and affordable virtually for every familyies.

On the one hand, from the view point of those who prefer traveling to foreign countries, being familiar with a new culture and traditions as well as learning a new language are the two factors that make it a better option. They believe that having a trip to a country which has a completely different religion~~us~~, beliefs and language would be like a complete course of life while it is more interesting due to the novel ideas that it gives you. For example, traveling to the incredible India is not just about visiting the eye-catching beauty of ~~the~~ nature, also its rich culture and traditions may ~~learn~~ teach you more than anything.

On the other hand, today tourism is a proved valuable industry that ~~are~~ is playing a major role in the economy of many countries such as Turkey, United Arabies Emirates and many besides. For example, in Italy almost 40 percent of the people are working in jobs which are either directly or indirectly are the result of the enormous number of tourists ~~tourisms~~ that are visiting the country. Thus, if the people in a country traveled inside their own countries they would be both creating jobs for their fellow citizens, and helping their countries in terms of financial growths.

Personally, the cost of travel is of high importance owing to the fact it must be affordable for most of the families. For instance, traveling to a foreign country ~~is~~ mostly includes~~d~~ many extra expenses such as the expense/cost price of the visa, traveling by airplane and the cost of expensive accommodation. To make the situation worse, many tourists need to travel on ~~in~~ a tour with an official tour guide which makes the trip more expensive for a regular family. By contrast, if you have a deeper look at ~~to~~ (peruse, scrutinize) the map of your country, there are many new places even in nearby areas that have their own unique culture and tradition that you are not aware of.

In a nutshell, Even though traveling to a foreign country seemingly offers more novelty in terms of culture and tradition, a journey traveling inside your home country would benefit ~~the~~ society in both economic growths, and unemployment rate. Moreover, almost always you could find places in your country that are new to many people who live in that same area.
