

Do you agree or disagree with the following statement?

"Life today is easier and more comfortable than it was when your grandparents were children."

Nowadays, with the advances in technology, human's life has evolved in several aspects. There is no room for doubt that these changes have had significant positive effects on our lives and has made it easier, however, there are individuals who claim that these advancements are drawbacks and our previous generations lead easier life. In my point of view, I personally think that the life is more satisfying in these days.

Firstly, thanks to the scientific research and developments in this area it has been proved that the medium life expectancy has been dramatically increased through decades. Based on a study conducted by FSU college of social sciences, the senior citizens of a specific neighborhood claims that within their adulthood they have experience a more comfortable life than those of their young ages, so by given explanation I think that it is obvious that we are living in an era that the hardships and difficulties has minimized.

Secondly, one might argue that we as a human kind are facing with a mechanical life that has influence our lives in many aspects which has consequently lead us to face with plenty of challenging situations and that our grandparents has easier lives. I think that although there are definitely some drawbacks with these improvements the advantages far outweigh its downsides. Moreover, previous generations were facing with some serious difficulties namely as child labor, illiteracy, poverty and so on which are not completely eradicate yet, but the improvements in these areas are significant.

In a nutshell, as mentioned earlier although technology and its results have had some negative effects on our lives, the upsides cannot be denied anyway and it outweigh the drawbacks, so however, there are still room for improvements, the type of challenges and difficulties has change in a way which has consequently made life easier than before.
