Basically, the primary goal of education is to provide people with sufficient knowledge of skills to have more productive and satisfying lives. To this end, some people prefer going abroad to study in a foreign country with the desire of higher qualifications with ~~while it's~~ all the drawbacks.

On the one hand, the perspective of modern education systems and better research facilities encourage people to decide studying abroad. Those in favor enumerate that the most obvious advantages of overseas university studying are learning a foreign language. There is no doubt that studying in other countries provides the opportunity for ~~to~~ real-life use of a different language. Learning several methods to cope with the new culture is another positive aspect of overseas studying. Overcoming these kinds of problems leads to an increase in their self-confidence. It offers them various perspectives s of life which is of paramount importance. Overseas qualifications help the students get a better job when they return home.

In contrast, one of the major problems with overseas study is that it is expensive. Tuition fees are very /quite high and often the cost of living is higher than that in the students' 's own country.
