Do you agree or disagree with this statement? The best way to travel is in a group led by a tour guide. Use specific reasons and examples to support your answer.

How to find a good hotel? Delicious food, an excellent place to relax in, exciting attractions and many questions like this always are asked when you want to travel to a new location. A great tour guide can help to answer all these issues, but not everyone ~~doesn't~~ agrees with this statement.

A tour guide is the best way to some adventurous travels like going to the desert or some natural places like mountains, rivers, fountains, and forests. Traveling without a person who is familiar with such places such as a forest could be dangerous, it's essential to have ~~having~~ a tour guide in this virgin natural area where there are ~~which many~~ perils ~~are there~~ lying in ~~the~~ ambush that we don't know about. I think everyone agrees with this argument.

On the other hand~~s~~, many travels are easier than those mentioned. For example, traveling to a city especially to a tourist~~ic~~ city where ~~that~~ you can use many maps, guides and also the internet to find best places to sleep, exciting places to see, best shopping malls, and also you can find others' experience on the web. However, ~~Although~~ many people prefer a tour guide to ~~,~~ make decisions for them.

Also, there is a group of people including me that believe a ~~visit~~ guide often limits~~ed~~ travelers' freedom. They have to do every plan at a particular time, and for many, it might be stressful. People prefer to find and discover new places on ~~by~~ their own. It feels better that you can be for a long time in a museum that you love than a person always notices that time is up. Albeit you may lose other attractions of the city by this decision. Your preference in this situation depends on what characteristic you have, and whether you may prefer to have a tour guide or not.

As a summary, I agree to travel in a group and have a tour guide in many situations. For instance, go to a virgin natural forest or desert. However, if I want to go to a big tourist~~ic~~ city like Paris, I prefer to be alone by myself and maybe to be with my friends to find attractions of the town and spend my time in ways that ~~a way~~ I like to not in a way that is optimized.
