Some experts believe that it is better for children to begin learning a foreign language at primary school rather than secondary school.

Do the advantages of this outweigh the disadvantages?

"learning a foreign language at primary school or even before than this age is more effective/ influential than either at secondary school or ages above." Is it It is true or not? This is the question that experts have raised.

Nowadays researches have shown/proven that learning at an early age is more effective/successful than at other ages. Researchers claims that children's brain is sharp/children has-have a quick brain. In other words, they learn most of the materials whatever we teach them in a short time. Moreover, picking up sustainably, children hardly forget. For example, all of us remember tales that either our grandparents or our parents had told us, similarly poems for children that we had remembered/memorized/learned, we have not forgotten. This is the reason why we could not ignore their capacity for fast learning/it-easily.

Although learning another language is extremely effective at primary schools, continuing this approach/way has paramount importance and we should know how to do this. For instance, children should be have been taught the basics and primary principles of language such as useful words, making sentences, and then in the following steps they could use them. besides, it is good for us that-to motivate adolescents to use it for showing off themselves and it is our strong suit/strength. If either parents or schools fail to address children's educations, they will be at a loss.

At last, we should benefit from this-these children's talent to teach them, especially other languages. In fact, knowing foreign languages helps them to communicate with other peopleand, cultures. To put it simplyway, the benefits are legion.
