

In many countries children are engaged in some kind of paid work some people regard this as completely wrong, while others consider it as valuable work experience, important for learning and taking responsibility what are your opinion on this?

Today , life has become harder than ever before, people who cannot afford their life expenses—lives on some occasions send their children to work. In some cases, children of families who have lost the ir bread winner and have no other choice but start working in early ages.

Nowadays, people are internationally encouraging their children to do some works and get money for their daily needs. They are working in the restaurant as winterwaiters, serving serves in a shop instead of going to the school and getting some knowledge. Though there is a massive development in technology, awareness in the society, there are some children who are completely unaware of their surroundings s-things and events which are happening.

However , the circumstance of a family makes their children's work for money which brings food to their family by working at an the early age children will come to know about many things for instance ,the responsibility of a family ,the value of money and work experience which makes them tackle and-any kind of situation.

From my point of view, personally, I do not agree with children's working, they should solely focus on their education although in conditions that schools are closedd for long periods, for example summer holidays, they could help their fathers in their jobs or they might start a career to learn a practical skills.

In conclusion, it is not a good idea that about children's work by considering everything in all the consideration, but in situations where/that schools are off they can only work beside their families or relatives for the sophisticated abilities.
