

Tourists traveling abroad should be charged more than locals when visiting a touristic area.

To what extent do you agree or disagree.

Visiting touristic areas nowadays is one of the highly beneficial sources for countries ~~which witch~~ benefit from attractive historical or natural beautiful places. Sometimes laws such as tourists ~~having have~~ to pay more than local visitors, have ~~been~~ enforced by governments. Whether or not it is a good thing for the tourist industry, is a moot point.

Nowadays owing to ~~the~~ vast income of ~~the~~ tourist industry, governments tend ~~dt~~ to boost their country's attraction by providing ~~comfort comfortably~~ and safety in tourist areas. Obviously, this policy usually is capital-intensive. Therefore, they have to ~~introduce legalize~~ some laws for compensating ~~inge~~ a part of ~~the~~ expenses. For instance, they ask more money from ~~overseas abroad~~ travelers ~~and~~ as a result ~~of~~ they might be able to afford ~~the expenses better~~ in comparison with local visitors and also do not pay ~~tax.task~~. Because usually they come from developed countries.

On the other hand, in such situations ~~might~~ some people ~~might~~ believe that it is unfair, ~~but~~ ~~-But~~, we can see a lot of poor countries that do not have any other source of income except tourism~~s~~. These countries should encourage travelers to pay more by offering high standard facilities and good enough accommodations. In this way, not only ~~can~~ they ~~can~~ achieve tourists' satisfaction, but also promote job opportunities in their countries. In other words, the more visitors, more employment. In addition, foreign travelers can ~~translate-transfer~~ industries like ~~handicraft handmade costumes~~ by sharing their own cultures with destination countries' members ~~which that~~ leads to more employments.

In conclusion, foreign visitors might have to pay more than local travelers as a result of their extra expenses for providing safety and suitable accommodation and ~~tax task~~ payment. Therefore, authorities should be concerned about visitors' satisfaction and try to ~~appreciate benefit from~~ travelers for ~~creating raising~~ job opportunities and ~~promoting~~ culture.
