

Some people think that you need more money to be happy, while others prefer to have more free time than money. Discuss both views and give your own opinion.

Happiness means different things to different people. Some people see money as a source of happiness, while for others spending time with family and friends is be a source of happiness.

Money is important for everybody without which . We cannot live without money, but some people aspire to earn more money. They want a bigger house or a better car or they purchase the latest styles or they travel to another countries. They find happiness in something when they have more money and they can do everything with it that they makes them be happy.

Some people believe that spending a lot of time with family or friends be makes them happy, they are very happy with small things. For example they pass a lot of time with relatives at the weekend. Although they have low income, they have a happy life.

From my perspective, money plays a vital role in all people's life and it is an essential factor for people to feel happy. But we do not really need too much money to make us happy, because there are other issues such as self-satisfaction and love from family or friends which can also contribute to happiness of an individual.

To summarize, money might help to have a happy life for many people. However, the real happiness which is having a good relationship with family and friends s could good not be bought with any amount of money.
