

Nowadays people are trying to come out of ordinary life and ~~they~~ try to experience everything. Sports are a very healthy way that create makes enjoyable time for us. Some sports are very risky like mountain climbing. In my opinion being risky is one side of these sports but the other side is great pleasure that comes from it which and it pushed us to want for wanting riskier ones. I think if we can control the risk and make sure about security it is very useful.

The sense of popularity is common between human beings s and people that select these extreme sports at first faceing with /experience this sense. Secondly dangerous games usually have a large amount of prize.

About fighting games, z the situation is different because I think people that deal with this kind of sports suffer from in confidence and want to solve their problems by fighting rather than thinking. It should be mentioned ed that for controlling the consequences of these dangerous sports people should be prepared and considered ed all aspects. At first they should train professional coaches of climbing. Secondly they should be prepared by the standard equipment and finally they should consider the weather conditions -of weather and the other things /factors.

I think some restrictions should be imposed done on these sports that filter people and just people that are prepared proper can enter.

In conclusion many people like to deal with dangerous sports for various reasons like money, popularity -etc. However, z one should follow safety guidelines and train well in advance before doing them, and also government should put some restrictions for unsafe sports.
