

Dear Julia,

I'm writing this letter to you to ask for some help. As you know I'm about to travel to Canada to continue my studies. So I'd like to do a part-time job in the meantime (while studying).

I had an enrolment in Ryerson university in Toronto. The courses which I took will begin as to about two months from now. I really can't wait (like) to attend these courses since they're mostly related to my major.

As far as I know, the tuition of the university is too high and the fee of a convenient life there too (as well). So I have to do at least a part-time job to cover these costs.

Could you please do me a favor and ask around if any company needs a part-time employee. It would be so helpful cuze because you are living there and also more familiar with to the situations more than any one I can contact.

I hope to hear from you soon.

Yours faithfully,

Fatemeh
