Use specific reasons and examples to support your answer.

Maintaining healthy relations can be quite difficult in today's world and there are many aspects of our interactions with others that we need to worry about. It is undeniable that happiness is an essential part of our life. I completely agree that we should keep our close friends for an extended time due to the fact that we can rely on them and create a wonderful time.

To begin with, people who have old friends have a chance to share their feelings and concerns. Not only do they exactly know each other but also they become familiar with their behavior. If you ~~make find~~ a new mate, you will need some time to ~~get~~ accustomed ~~ed~~ ~~to with~~ one another. In addition, speaking about their memories, people could bring true happiness to their life. My own experience is a compelling example of this. When I was a child, I went to ~~the~~ preschool and I met my new friend ~~called~~ Ali. We suddenly ~~/immediately~~ became ~~a~~ friends. Since that time, we ~~are have been~~ friends about twenty-five years ~~old~~. We spent so much time together and visited many places such as the Great Wall of China, New York City ~~and so on~~. We always ~~reminisce talk~~ about ~~the past our permanent memorial~~. There is more to having long-standing friends than just being with some people.

Furthermore, I could receive more support from my soul mates because I could trust them easily especially, whether you are faced ~~d~~ with a dilemma or borrowing extra money. As such, the relation among them could be closer. As an illustration, last year, I had to decide whether ~~to~~ leave my job or go to ~~the a~~ new company. At first, I was ~~so~~ ~~quite~~ confused since there were advantages and disadvantages to both my positions. Then, I talked to my best friend ~~who~~. ~~He~~ explained to me how I should choose my priorities. As ~~the a~~ result, I decided that it was better to leave my organization and accepted ~~ed~~ my new offer. If I did not consult with him, how ~~I would I be able to should~~ respond to this situation.

To put it in ~~the a~~ nutshell, a marvelous ~~/ineffable~~ feeling is a natural result of keeping old valuable allies. Therefore, people need to keep their pals since they share worthy memories.
