

The only way to reduce the amount of traffic in cities today is by reducing the need for people to travel From home to work, education or shopping. To what extent do you agree or disagree?

In the present time, is the most crucial issue in vast urban area is traffic jam and its side-effects. On week days residents need to migrate from home to work place on bright and early in the morning and opposite direction in the evening. This event repeats on the weekends people should go shopping to the city center and go to entertaining center for pleasure. This daily routine should drop to lowest level.

First of all, the government should extend and develop public transportation system with low fare ticket cost and accurate time table for public transports this drastic revolution influences on commuters style habits, for instance when people can access to the governmental vehicle easily with lowest price and delay, one can accustomed to this policy.

In addition, officials can set up and advertise e-learning, e-shopping and remote-working style with variety of benefits such as offering loan for learning with low and long interest rates, for work offering Flexible Work hours, better Retirement conditions.

In conclusion, in modern era it is vital using technology instruments and facilities rather than out dated methods in terms of decreasing extra costs and saving natural resources.