

In recent years some countries have experienced very rapid economic development. This has resulted in much higher standards of living in urban areas but not in the countryside.

This situation may bring some problems for the country as a whole. What are these problems? How might they be reduced?

The Economic climate in advanced countries ~~has have~~ had a steep enhancementd in recent decades. This event has led outcome to improvementsing on the increase in people' lifestyle standard in the metropolitan areas., however, the surroundings are (lagging behind) not keeping pace in the developing process that surely will follow some negative results. In this essay those consequences and some suggestions will be stated (cited, right?)

First of all, the government allocates (centered) an array of facilities in urban districts, from public transportation systems, improved streets and roads, electronic appliances that facilitate the city life for the citizens. Concurrently, countryside is deprived ~~from~~ of state-of-the-art (trendy) instruments and their officials rendered them poor quality services that not only do not respond to their initial requirements, also fall-put them behind ~~from~~ crucial standards of current life.

The other main problem is that unequal life conditions could result in more and more emigratione from the countryside to the mega cities. This will give a rise to an overpopulatione in the mega cities, alongside with overstored harmful ions that ~~plummet-reduce~~ the air quality. Theses stated problems are considered accounted as thea tip of the iceberg. Every dire consequence is followed by another repercussion that exacerbates the status quo (current situation) as well as other ongoing negative events.

In effect, inequality in society, according to ~~the~~ sociologists, will lead actuate to increasing aggressive behavior. The modern communities are engaged d in increasing street violence, on account of recent reports. It is told that the chief reason has-is rooted in inequality in distribution of wealth in ~~the~~ society, amongst emigrantntste from the countryside and urban citizens.

Obviously, more attention to peoples in the suburbssurrounding, more productivities in ~~that those~~ parts. Moreover, the upgrade trends in emigratione will be reverse owing to providing ubiquitous job opportunities in that region that brings s down the statistics of violence behavior in ~~the~~ society.
