

In many countries schools have severe problems with student behavior.
what do you think are the cause of this?
what solutions can you suggest?

Schools have encountered diverse manners, interests and behavior of students in their history. Although creating newly adorable innovations by them, their hazardous behavior towards peers or school figures such as drawing guns or other serious threats have increased quite a few. The more generation passed and High-Tech developed, the more brutality observed at schools. However, cards are on the table to omit this dark spot.

Though some may claim the first remarkable point is the stressed and improper circumstances of pregnancy, surveys conducted revealed the destructively adverse effects of violent computer games and films. On one hand, they assimilate children and teenagers to their thrill. On the other hand, they become a pattern to follow. That the status quo of anomaly is relevant to the aforementioned factor is a fact, though the impacts of both parents and friends must not be denied. In other words, parents form a great portion of their child's personality and attitude, so do friend companies. They are the majority a student interact most and stabilize thoughts and values in their mind.

In my estimation, to cure this recently emerged trouble, it would be integral to reform and amend some ~~of~~ values and rules at ~~homes~~ and educational environments. Indeed, it is incumbent on parents to treat their children tactfully and consciously in order to prepare their mindset for exhibiting adopting indecent roles and habits not only at ~~schools~~ but also everywhere.

Eventually, if the intensity-scope of the problem ~~scope~~ with students gets insurmountable, consultants, psychologists or any relevant specialist ~~is-are~~ preferred to be utilized.

The main conclusion to be drawn is that there is not merely one factor inducing extremely terrible influences on students' ~~pattern~~ behavior pattern, so ~~-So that~~ programed underlying mechanisms ought to be applied. In fact, not only do they find answers to the problem for making children more acceptable and compatible, but also brace them for next steps of life.
