

Many parents believe that children should play team sports like football, basketball and so on, instead of individual sports such as swimming or running, during the school scheduled timetable. Do you agree or disagree with the above statement?

That teamwork and especially team sports are beneficial for children is indisputable. Moreover, many parents are willing to have their children participate in such activities rather than individual sports. Furthermore, they ~~desire expect from~~ their children's school to put these kinds of activities in their timetable. From my point of view, students should learn single-player sports besides collective ones.

There are manifold points to ensure the benefits of team~~mate's~~ games. First and foremost, not only do offspring enjoy the sport when they play in a team, but also they learn cooperation with each other. As a matter of fact, they provide valuable skills ~~that~~ assisting in their future life. A case in point, succeeding in a race, children should make their every effort simultaneously. If one of them shirked his responsibility, the whole team would lose. Last but not least, team games lead to a great way to develop relationships. To elaborate, children who play games in team~~s~~ not only get the chance to ~~do establish a~~ relationship with others, but also to expand social skills which ~~is are~~ worthwhile for them. therefore, building friendship as well as being social are excellent rewards offered by such sports.

Although being a team member is beneficial for them, children should learn how to cope with issues that they might ~~are be~~ faced with them in their personal life. Other than that, they must learn to compete in life, because competition is one of the most important factors helping us to make progress in our lives. Finally, in this rapidly changing world, people are also concern~~ed~~ about their own ~~either~~ problems or desires/~~willingness~~, so each person should learn how to both entertain and enjoy his life without anyone.

In a nutshell, it is incumbent on us to teach our offspring ~~/charges~~ to have fun ~~either~~ whether with their friends as a participant in a team or lonely, hence providing facilities such as team sports or individual ones during the scheduled timetable. However, individual sports have a plethora of merits, but I do believe that team sports are more beneficial to socialize and succeed.
