

Every country has poor people and every country has different ways of dealing with the poor.

What are some the reasons for world poverty? What can we do to help the poor?

In contemporary days, there are a lot of people suffering from poverty which is paradoxical with authorities' speeches who claim that there is a relatively minuscule percentage of citizens who are living in slum houses. To be honest some of these adverse conditions have been brought by states.

There are enormous factors causing poverty that some of them are unknown. However, socialist experts' researches have cited many of these which I will mention some of them in the following paragraph.

One of the major reasons for poverty might be lack of education. As it is vivid, employers mainly prefer to hire well-educated individuals who studied a major associated with the field of their career. Since having an occupation will be an essential economic aid, the employees could live in sufficient property with a proper welfare.

The next item for making people poor would be natural disasters. Earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, floods etc are some cases in point. When these incidents happen, this would make people lose their accommodation and assets. In these critical and insurmountable situations, it is most of the time a large quantity of the masses are not able to make this up and it would be impossible to renovate their property or buy or rent a new.

To address poverty problems, promoting an educational system might be a solution. These days going to university or even college and schools is not affordable for many pupils. If this became free or less paid, a lot of students may grow educationally and enhance in their latent jobs. Also I have been advised to the governments to widen job opportunities for numbers who have not had adequate education degree or job experience who are failed to take into account. These strategies could help either poor communities and the government to overcome poverty.

All in all, poverty may be caused by numerous reasons which some of the mentioned in this essay. Furthermore factors like wars, sanctions etc could lead people to this catastrophic phenomenon. Although it is not straightforward for executives and peers, it can be solved with intensive efforts implemented by authorities, and by the same token, done by people themselves.
