

I totally disagree with this statement and ~~on~~from my vantage point new types of contacts can make stronger relationships between people in comparison with the past . One should take into account the fact that it has modified people's connection dramatically ; However, it did not make it less. The following paragraphs will aptly illustrate the reasons .

The first reason coming to my mind is that social media such as Facebook and Twitter aids their members in having ~~to have~~ communication with their relatives and friends by chatting even during working .However, The major point refers to financial and time cost. Actually, using these new instruments ~~are~~is cheaper and it takes less time to message someone. So, majority of people are chatting instead of calling ~~to~~ each other except the time that they have a long conversation to talk. Secondly , there is a feature in most of these social media to create a group to gather specific people together and have conversations with each other . This characteristic is very common and useful for members to gather their ~~ancient-old~~ friends from their childhood together and talk around the past and share their old pictures. Indeed, these activities make them ~~be~~ emotional to prefer ~~would rather~~ to meet each other as soon as possible

The last but not the least reason is that based on the latest research, people's communication ~~is~~ are more stable these days than before ~~these days~~. To illustrate, stay-in-touch messages do not take too much time and they help not to be taken away from others' life. Moreover, these days people are engaged with their works because modern lifestyle forces people to attend ~~on~~ their jobs much more to have a regular life. Therefore, using these types of communication do not ruin people's daily routine and do not make any conflicts or interruption in their life. Besides, it helps people to have an unbounded connection with anyone who does not live in the same area.

All the aforementioned reasons lead us to the conclusion that modern relationship could be even useful and it is recommended that we ~~to~~ have accounts in these types of social media to have simple, cheap and unbounded/unlimited connection.
