

When a country develops its technology, the traditional ways of life die out. It is pointless to try and keep them alive.

To what extent do you agree or disagree with this opinion?

Nowadays, we face so many developments in technology which leads to the vanishing of the traditions. Some people believe that we should keep up with these developments and forget the old ones, others are ~~on-of~~ the thought that it's essential to keep traditional ways alive.

We could see through the years ~~that~~ how these developments have made our life much easier, from invention of electricity to emergence of the internet. The internet has made so many changes in our life for example in the past people used to send letters to their family who lived far away but nowadays people make phone calls to see them. This is one example which indicates that nowadays letters ~~is-are~~ about to disappear from our life

On the other hand, there are some people who think that following the traditional ways is much better than technology because it has negative impacts on society, also by following traditions we can keep our culture alive as well. For example, some parents ~~are on the thought~~ believe that their children shouldn't play ~~with~~ computer games, instead they should do ~~the~~ physical activities for their entertainment like playing football. Moreover, we can mention ~~unclearnuclear-~~ power, these people are completely against it because they believe that it can be used in ~~unclearnuclear~~ weapons and it is dangerous for the world.

In conclusion, I'm of the opinion that we should keep the balance between ~~tradition-traditional~~ ways and technology. In that case, we can take advantage of the technology and keep alive all the traditions.