people believe that there should be fixed punishments for each type of crime. Others, however, argue that the circumstances of an individual crime, and the motivation for committing it, should always be taken into account when deciding on the punishment. Discuss both these views and give your own opinion

It is quite obvious that the rate of crimes is increasing day by day in all societies in the world. According to statistics, people committinged illegal activities have_deserved punishment, so with respect to differences of crimes, the level of crimes can be recognized the level of crimes. judging little-minor crimes and decide-deciding to determining punishment is substantially more comfortable that thanof significant crimes. circumstances of an individual crimes is a remarkable issue as is motivation, however it will depends on the type of judgment to consider circumstances and motivation of people.

Firstly, people firmly hold the believe_belief that fixed punishment must be in terms of regulation and rules. People who are being punished will have better life than they do not now. Although-since people is-are faced with their nemesis, they no longer repeat it. Therefore, the rate of delinquencies is reduced substantially and we will have more healthy society.

The other significant point is, circumstances and motivation are two important factors for community crimes. From their the advocates' point of view the main cause of crimes is poverty. Attention to circumstances of individuals and reducinge their delinquencies makescreate the opportunity for them to haveing healthy lives, so this is sort of forgiveness in judgment. On the other hand, motivatione for crimes refers to their miserable condition that is imposed to on the poor stratum-strata of society

In conclusion, going to jail and paying a fine are significant deterrent factors and everyone must be punished due toso that others will be less bold in committing -awareness of their illegal acts/they will think twice before committing an offence.
