

Some people believe that preserving the natural environment is crucial. However, most make no effort to do so. Why do you think this is happening? What are some simple actions that could help the environment?

Why we should respect the natural environment has become an all-important question in a portion of ~~folks'~~ people's mind during the last decades. While many people do not care about this critical issue, some are working hard to save the environment. This essay turns the spotlight on this important problem, and provides some relatively simple solutions to save our old mother nature.

It goes without saying that our life is highly dependent ~~to-on~~ the environment. Global warming, ozone depletion, recent droughts, deforestation across the continents and air pollution are obvious examples of climate change which not only ~~do-threaten~~ endanger humans' life, but ~~it-they~~ also endangered other types of living creatures. This trend, however, will not revert unless all the contributors stop their destructive activities. I believe a possible motivator behind ~~this-these~~ selfish actions is the short-term financial benefits. Cutting trees to build residential buildings for example has become widely popular in the north of Iran turning simple farmers into prosperous villa owners who can earn much more money than endeavoring on their farms.

On the contrary, a large group of people ranging from scholars to ordinary people are trying hard to both save the environment and increase public awareness to save our planet. These group s argue that ~~if people knew had people known~~ the dangers behind their actions, they would ~~have-respected-more~~ the environment more. ~~That~~ educating children at school regarding the importance of respecting the wild life and respecting the environment is an indisputable fact. Admittedly, the more educated a nation, the less destruction to the natural resources. According to a research conducted by Finland ministry of energy people ~~succeeded-managed~~ to save-reduce more than 15% of their gas consumption during the cold winter in Helsinki by wearing more appropriate clothes at their homes.

I believe we are part of the environment, and can have a critically important role in saving our planet. Although many argue that many environmental issues such as soil erosion or portion of global warming is a natural cycle of the earth, I claim humans can have a more significant impact on this degradation. Trying to save the environment, green individuals are expecting more contribution from other people to join them.