

Some people say that it is possible to tell a lot about a person's culture and character from their choice of clothes. Do you agree or disagree?

Tendency of clothing ~~had been~~ emerged from the beginning of advent of humans. It was specifically used for protection from the harsh weather, animal attack and insect sting. Geographic locations, cultures, religions, politics, economic levels and people's taste and character leading to wearing different kinds of ~~grabs-garb~~ by people. In modern days, fashion decreases the effect of culture and tradition. But what is certain is that ~~peoples'-people's~~ character still plays an important role.

Indeed, the matter of this fact is to some ~~extend-extent~~ true. Some who claim that clothes illustrate peoples, culture and attitude are right and have their own reasons for that. Alongside the history, all of the different civilizations have been their specific cultures which were dictated to them how to show up and behave. There is a logical relation between ~~peoples'-people's~~ contemplation and covering. For instance, in ancient Japan, people wore kimonos, a traditional piece of clothing made by silk, which affected greeting and all their daily work. They constantly have bent for greeting which is called bow. With this ~~clothe-~~ clothing style it is the easiest way to respect each other and as time passes, this behavior is stuck to the Japanese culture. From a modern view, although such tradition seems to be obsoleted, wearing a suit for men and a short skirt for women is essential to behave in a tidy manner.

On the other hand, a proper style will affect positively all other aspects of our life such as marriage, finding a helpful friend, recruitment in suitable job. Actually, only if people dress well, will they behave well in society. We often judge peoples' character by clothes. Around the world, for some special location, we impose some rules for wearing. This can prohibit people ~~of from~~ wearing some kinds of clothes or obligate them to wear harmonious ones. These kinds of rules may cause ~~strict tension to in~~ society. In some ~~countrycountries~~, religion plays a strict role in this ground and bans people wearing. In this circumstance people cannot show their belief by their appearance.

To conclude all the statement above, I must say that the appearance of someone is not ~~an~~ absolute evidence to judge him/her, but it can display some parts of ~~peoples'-people's~~ thinking model. Some one who chooses a casual dress most of the time wants to be free and relaxed and will be-seemed easy-going. Generally, peoples' look and how ~~the way~~ they wear is not inefficient at all.
