

My 2nd Writing

Successful sports professionals can earn a great deal more money than people in other important professions. Some people think this is fully justified while others think it is unfair.

There are many disputes over the high salaries of the top sports people. Although reasons can be given to unjustified this, personally, I assume that sports professionals deserve this high wages.

Most people think that top sportsmen earn much money that they are not worthy due to two main reasons. Firstly, individuals suppose that athletes do not provide a vital service to communities like other crucial careers do. Football players, for instance, earn enormous salaries just by kicking a ball. Secondly, while life would be difficult without doctors, engineers and other essential occupations, mankind could live happily and pleasantly without sports professionals.

On the other hand, I would argue that there are plenty causes to support the high income in sports. First reason, people who reach the highest level in sport must be extremely skilled and talented. They take training and practice every day to achieve this step of professionalism. So, hardworking sportsmen deserve the most numerous wages. Second reason, the top sports people are at risk to serious injuries. If they get hurt, they feel the need much money to recovery and assert their families meanwhile. Majority of them have to retire after the age of forty and sometimes even earlier. Finally, sports salaries are only high because the athletes' fans are willing to pay much money to watch their favorite stars.

In conclusion, sports professionals are loved and admired by everyone because of their contribution in games. Sports person career span is short, so in my view, they deserve to obtain money for having qualified life even after retirement period.