It is better to be safe than sorry

Use reasons and examples to support your responses.

Nowadays, many people concern how do they can manage their doing that certainly it will have excellent consequences. Some people maintain they should trying to be precise without any wrong. Others claim that false works and harmful decisions can be even useful. Actually, I believe some conditions are not in our control also we may select wrong accidentally.

Firstly, some individuals believe that they have to decide and act correctly in each kind of situations.

Hence, they cannot control all the events and the number of mistakes may happen accidentally, they would be nervous and unhappy in their daily life. A friend of mine care about her activities a lot because she claims that she doesn't want being shame latter. For example, one time we went out together and she asks herself "did I lock the door?" for three times. She were nervous and confused that day but also she didn't enjoy the trip. In addition, she realized that she had locked the door and she wasted her breathtaking moments.

Secondly, other adults think that they should have chance for selecting even risky options. They point out that life is an opportunity for evaluating our choices. Moreover, they mention we can improve our experiences by making mistakes. Moreover, in financial environment selecting more risky selections can cause higher benefits.

Finally, in my opinion, for having relax and pleasure life we should consider to moderation. We can care about cautions and trying to have correct works. Furthermore, we can take the life easy and do not overwhelm ourselves by reminding superficial responsibilities. Meanwhile, in many situations there is no matter if we make a mistake.

In conclusion, although paying attention to safe selection is necessary, we should live life. On the other hand, taking care about avoiding regret would not be cause restless and depression.
