

If you could change one important thing in your hometown, what would you change?

Human being as it could be derived from these word/as the name suggests/ shape his/her existence on being and being itself will be possible only in a spatial condition as Heidegger said: "Dasein" which means being there. Cities as the biggest physical spatial world which humans create in their lifespan have come a long way from the first people who decided live together to these days' metropolises. These creations have consisted from lots of components having interrelating effects on each other. Digressing from this saturated intro, I personally think transportation serves as one of the sensational structure of every living-place.

Deep thinking, I should point out the nature of life. Beside many concepts like the capability of talk or thought/the faculty of speech/, materialistically it seems fair to say human being owe its evolution to his/her ability to move without which there was no exploration in the strangeness of world. Eagerness have come to the life when an individual confronts an unrecognized thing thanks to the mobility vigor.

Technically, here it worth to refer three main object which are genuinely impressed from transports' mater. First and most every citizen spends a lots of time for movement in cities, especially in metropolitan ones. I myself waste three hours a day in traffic jam in my hometown, Tehran. Air pollution as the second significant issue, harms every people in such a city so that we had it as a harmless town just a quarter of year. Regarding scientific researches, nose to tail traffics should be quoted as the main culprit for this impurity of the air. Last but not the least is a mount of stress which these types of cities induced people when they always follow an inactive streams of cars and think about parking place or get try along with the tension of drivers whereas they are late apart any condition.

To put it in a nutshell, I rather to change the way we transport in my hometown to safe keep my time and health and shape my life in a practicable circumstance.
