

Music is played in every society and culture in the world today. Some people think that music brings only benefits to individuals and societies. Others, however, think that music can have a negative influence on both.

Discuss both these views and give your own opinion.

Over the history of humankind, music has played an undeniable role to feature largely the whole range of human emotion in all histories and all cultures. It has been one of the main ways of knowing nations and their traditions. Living without music, not only is it unbelievable, but also it brings about unbearable life. I totally believe that music in different types has enormous positive effects to both individuals and societies rather than negative side. However, there would be a few people who think in contrast to me.

Of established influences of music, we can easily feel it in our personal life which is refreshing our mind. Not only does it motivate us, but also healing our wound. Music is a composition of lyrics and melodies. Listening to an Amazingly well-created song could be result in (/a reason of) good working through the working hours. Even while music is being played, particularly plants could grow faster than once it is not. Besides, some kind of music have been made by famous songwriters crying lots of social illnesses, owing to represent them to their governments, in other words, music would be an extensively warning tool for usual people to announce their neediness and willingness, in particular, heavy metal bands like Metallica.

The flip side of benefits of music, which I do not agree with, is people who think music has negative effects on people. By and large, respectively, how people listen to the music or yawning gap between youths and aged persons could be a problem. The former claim they are exposed to loud noise due to someone's CD players or their car radios. Consequently, it is not a music problem. And the latter complain owing to differing among people's taste. However, Everybody knows that people's taste in music tends to change as they get older.

In Conclusion, music could have both positive and negative influences on people and cultures, but I believe it is an integral part of human expression that we cannot really imagine our own life without.
