More and more qualified people are moving from poor to countries to fill vacancies in specialist areas like enginerring, computing and medicine. Some people believe that by encouraging the movement of such people rich countries are stealing from poor countries. Others feel that this is only part of the natural movement of workers around the world

What is your opinion? do you think rich countries should pay poorer countries for the people they encourage to come?

What other measures could rich countries take to encourage qualified people to stay and help develope their own countries?

1st world countries are ruling the world at the momment. they took over the world by strom and somehow they became unstopable. 3rd world countries are in danger. Their economy is becoming weakest than ever and under alot of pressure from other countries.

Firstly , i would like to mention that 1st world countries have developed such system and power which is so fascinating and mesmerizing that attracts you somehow . how can you reject this kind of offer and not immigrate to such countries ?

Not only you know that you will be able to live the dream you have always been dreaming of but you are able to even seize it. Another point to make is developed countries are using the newest technology in every aspect in the country. For example even in medical, they offer you the best treatment

Not only the data i mentioned but they are able to extend you the best social service than any other country. On the other hand, its more like a massive competition. countries are compiting with one another to provide the best. other countries should be able to put forward a great service and athmosphere where their citizens are satisfied

Secondly, i disagree that rich countries should pay poorer countries. rich countries have came along way to succeed while others have stoped evolving. rich countries has triggered the best resources of the poorer countries and aim to conquere as well because of the impeccable prerogatives they afford

All in all, in my opinion i assume that countries should be able to make their people indulge themselves in order to have a healthy soceity and a strong human resource while others might take away this kind of assets . every undeveloped country not only should but must start a revolution and progress and become a better version of itself so they will not loose their people