

One of the best ways that parents can help their teenage children prepare for adult life is to encourage them to take a part-time job.

There has been debate over the variety methods of preparing for adult life. How parents and society can support teenagers in becoming autonomous. Take a part time- job is one the methods which are suggested. This choice has its own advantages and disadvantages.

Advocates believe that the procedure finding job itself prepare them for becoming mature enough to lead a life. Furthermore, earning money in this era of life will be good rehearsal for adulthood. Having sufficient income is also a good practice for saving money for rainy days. In addition, they are going to learn time managing through this method. They must have timetable or schedule for studying, working and having fun. Moreover, they become more responsible that is absolutely necessary for their future life.

On the other hands, opponents claim that taking even part time-job not only has serious harmful effects on teenager's life but also makes them lazy for going to school. For example, working hours maybe reflect on study time or make them tired so young adults perhaps prefer sleeping rather than studying. Earning money makes them rebellious cause they think they can afford a life so they are able to decide alone about their life. It is kind fake self confidence that is dangerous especially for very young adults.

Were I comment on this debate, I would vote for supporters owing to the facts that mentioned above. From my point of view young adults should be prepared for their future life by having job or more responsibility.

To make long story short, we should bear in mind that all facts which are mentioned above have different effects on each teenager. So based on this, parents can find a suitable job for their kids or even find another method for teaching them lifestyle.
