

What is your opinion about positive or negative influence of TV programs on modern society.

Nowadays, there are several debates revolving around the influences of media and TV programs between opponents and advocates of that. Some individuals may hold the opinion that the endless expansion of TV programs have destroying effects on life-styles and perspectives of people instead of being beneficial for them, however, I am completely disagree. Not only are existence of TV programs useful but also it is a necessary for progressing toward in order to build a modern world. In other words, media paved the way for creating a modern society. There are considerable number of reasons that give rise to endorse my point of view which I only mention three important ones here. First, TV programs enhance general people knowledge. Second, it keeps people up to date related to daily news and events and finally yet importantly, can be used as a formative tool to change or display new common practices and information dependent on people's life-style and thoughts. Please let me clarify my opinions which are listed as follows:

To begin with, one of the most important differences between modern society and its counterpart is about their member's knowledge. According to Sociologist's some essential indices should be assembled together in order to a society turned into a modern and progressive, one of which is knowledge and thanks to various TV programs with greater variety of issues such as scientific, historical, social and etc..., ordinary people's awareness have been improved. Today's, because of fast pace of life and overwhelming conditions of modern societies, usually people have not enough free opportunities and time to chase their favorite topics or things to learn or experience however with help of TV programs this problem significantly has been reduced.

Secondly another issue that should be taken into consideration is that media and TV programs keep people up to date about recently events and important news. People in many ways can be informed about current situation related to their communities. In order to be more illustrating, environmental TV programs constantly warning us about threats and results of ignorance and pollution of our living zone and because of those obviously people pay more attention to preserve their living area. In addition, TV programs with distinct opinions make audience to be noticed about all aspects of one-specific topics or happenings such as presidential election that can assist them to choose more prudently

At last but not least, in these days aside from public's beliefs of TV programs on a society, it can be pondered as an affective tools relating to revise or start contemporary practices to modify unappropriate habits or traditions. For example, in modern societies two of the main social disorders emphasized broadly by TV programs are about ignorance and violence dependent on children and women rights that have changed people's beliefs and reduce these unpleasant events.

In a nutshell, all of the things can be used in negative and positive forms and TV programs are not exceptional. Of course those have some negative effects that should be neglected but advantages outweigh the disadvantages, However, the appropriate supervision is the main key to maintain current situation. To this end, I believe without media and its TV programs, modern society never were reachable.
