

Tourists cause more harm than good to local people and environment. Do you agree or disagree?

It is widely acceptable that tourism has a number of obvious merits. ~~Despite it contains~~containing a few ~~deteriorate-detrimental~~ effects to the environment. These ideas and my opinion will be discussed in further detail in this essay.

It goes without saying that the most apparent one would be source of revenue. Not only provide jobs opportunity but also it boosts income of local people. For instance in suburb of Tehran a lot of local women have been weaving carpets, that carpets have been sold to the tourism for many years and it leads to improvement of poverty in that region.

Beside this a second plus point could be that this can improves the quality of life for their people because it leads to create local service such as hospitals and hotels. Likewise, it boost the wealth of an area as well as amenities and facilities. Hence, if we attract tourism more, we will have great welfare.

In the opposition to the first group, it can destroy the habitat of animals and planets and it bring pollution to the environment. For example, when تردد شهری increases exhaust fumes from vehicles will enhance.

To sum up, if I had been the government I would have boost tourism. Because regarding to of economical reason and the standard of living. It pros out-weightoutweigh the drawbacks.
