

Many people think that money ~~to is~~be important for achieving happiness. What importance does money have regarding happiness? Give your answer with relevant examples.

Around the world, rarely can you find a person without pursuing the way of bringing happiness into his/her life. Despite the fact that we ~~having~~ have no precise definition for the nature of happiness, different ways are defined to achieve it. Accordingly, money, we are given to believe, is one of these ways.

To begin with, the importance of money almost stems from a power that is given to individuals, either materially or mentally. First of all, Purchasing power provides people with a vast range from survival necessities, such as having access to a livable house, suitable clothes and healthy foods, to luxurious needs like brand new cars, fashionable clothes or exorbitant recreational activities. Moreover, mentally, individuals feel a sense of satisfaction and exhilaration when they can possess whatever they want.

Therefore, it seems that money plays a conspicuous role in making people glad. ~~It~~ that is to say, it would be probably impossible to be happy if a man does not have a safe place to live or enough food to eat and especially cannot afford expensive medication and treatment.

Additionally, money asset equips you with~~to you encounter~~ a plethora of choices and opportunities. Consequently, it can help you developing your character, for example, traveling to different places and getting familiar with the diversity of cultures can spread your wisdom or using the latest technologies provides you with various abilities required for some jobs.

To put it in a nutshell, I personally opine that although there are excessively varied paths to grab ~~the~~ happiness which could be different for everyone, undoubtedly money is one of the crucial ones that the public has a consensus about. This gives rise to a comfortable life, by which I mean ~~to be~~being financially solvent enough to meet and fulfill fundamental prerequisites can be a necessary condition for being happy.