

NOWADAYS MANY PEOPLE CHOOSE TO BE SELF-EMPLOYED, RATHER THAN TO WORK FOR A COMPANY OR ORGANISATION.

WHY MIGHT THIS BE THE CASE? WHAT COULD BE THE DISADVANTAGES OF BEING SELF-EMPLOYED?

It is argued that, in recent years, people are more keen to run their own businesses instead of working as an ~~employer-employee~~ for the other companies and organizations. Although it may seem that self-employed jobs bring more profit and comfortableness for their owners, I believe it is still a risky decision which ~~would-could~~ have many downsides in both individual and social aspects. This essay will attempt to look into the possible reasons for such a trend in society and then considers the disadvantageous outcomes(drawbacks) of it.

In most developing countries ~~the economy-economic crisis-crises~~ is a major problem by which many companies are encounter~~ing~~~~ed~~~~with~~. Indeed, as the economy weakens, there are more and more jobs which are ~~making-made~~ redundant. In this situation people who seek ~~for-landing~~ a decent job would not feel secure enough to be recruited by an organization for which they should ~~have~~-work overtime without receiving any commitment for a long-lasting job by employers, so they may think a small but self-employed business would be a safer option for them. One's Own business/an owned business has also the advantage of being your own boss, ~~r,~~ in this way you ~~do not~~ have ~~to~~~~not~~ always be worried ~~of-~~about obeying a superior or meeting another person's demands. On the other hand, running a business without any support is always at the risk of breaking down.

The second reason which is linked with the first is that increasing the number of the private businesses would put ~~the~~-society in even more trouble, if everyone prefers to work for themselves, there would be no productivity in ~~the~~-society and the economy would collapse ~~much-more~~ severely as a result, so there is no prosperity in it. Also a big company can save more energy than several small ones in terms of producing the same product.

And last but not least, although there are lots of challenges in working for others, self-employment is not always the best option. The truth is, ~~the~~-society needs both.so, the authorities should strike a balance between these two in a way that helps the job seekers and the economy growth as well.
