

Immigration has a major impact on ~~the~~ society.

What are the main reasons of immigration?

To what consequences can it lead?

Immigration has a considerable impact on the modern society, especially in the field of ~~economics-~~ economy and each year more people decide to leave their home country and move to another place. there are important reasons which in ~~these~~ this essay i will mention ~~them~~.

In my point of view there are two main reasons of immigration which they are initially the search of better job opportunities and as a result of that reach to the higher salary and secondly creating a safe future for their families. for example in my country individuals decide to immigration because of lack of enough employment opportunities and unfair allocation of wealth and facilities between strata of society. Moreover, deprivation of security ~~of~~ politically and socially ~~that has created~~ creates social and cultural conflicts which pushes people to leave their homeland.

On the other hand there are disadvantages ~~in~~ particularly for both immigrants and destination ~~of~~ countries for instance not having dominant to language of the host country and the opposite of their expectation they would ~~can not~~ not be able to find appropriate jobs ~~and it~~ which makes ~~they-~~ them ~~have~~ frustrated. as well as for host countries have brought with it population growth and problems which ~~they~~ are related d to the maintenance-keeping of immigration-immigrants so it is necessary that countries have some kinds of supporting programs for immigrants.

In conclusion, i think that people immigrate to have ~~a~~ better life prospects so it is very important to consider all of the outcomes of immigration and then decide to whether leaving your home country is worth it.
