

Some students work while studying. This often results in lacking time for education and constantly feeling under pressure.

What do you think are the causes of this?

What solutions can you suggest?

Generally speaking, there are various reasons which plenty of students have decided to do working and studying simultaneously. Although this consideration has a negative consequences, the number of students who tendency to do it is growing which may lead to poor quality of the study.

Without a doubt, the most common cause is high cost of education which results in a lot of students have to do work because they are faced with heavy financial expenses. For one, some of the universities and educational institutions are receipt high tuitions so some families cannot afford it which results in students have to work to pay their educational fees.

Another reason is that obligesd students to do work while studying is tofor learn to take responsibility. as well asAlso, in some countries especially third world countries students work because their families need the additional income to lessen their families load.

There are a possible solutions in this case. For instance, governments have the significant role in educational system development by expansion of electronic publishing and developing online learning services as well as promoting people to use it as a useful way to studying. Besides, the governments must has made disbursements for education from government funds to make education free. Moreover, for make a sense of responsibility for students, families can send their children to establishments like a technical school for learning a special profession by the way by having a part time job even voluntary tasks which are unpaid work we can help them to reduce sense of pressure who they are feeling repeatedly.

To summarize, I think that the economic pressure is primarily concerned to this issue who students have to do work which can be solved by decreasing the amount of financial expenses who students have to meet.
