

Big salary is much more important than job satisfaction.
Do you agree or disagree?

It is often considered that, having a career with a high remuneration is a symbol of prestige and happiness but conversely I fully agree that the satisfaction of their job is more significant than huge salary since you can not afford to buy yourself happiness.

As I mentioned before, we cannot afford to exchange our happiness for just more money and alongside that the feeling of achieving something that no one believed ~~which~~ is possible is incomparable. therefore, ~~the~~ job satisfaction gives a sense of high productivity which may lead to a career development. for instance, if people feel passionate about their work, they will be more willing to make a great effort so that they are supporting their missions by hard-working to ~~achieving~~ achieve progress which makes them happy.

With that said, doing what people like results in keeping motivated and is followed by ~~make-making~~ the work-life balance. even though the highest income can bring some positives into our lives, most of the people prefer to spend a significant amount of their time into ~~the~~ environment which in they are feeling ~~of~~ relish as well as having ~~proportionality correspond~~ in their goals and dreams with the facts on the ground. moreover, by pursuing one's interests, one could always reach pleasure. for one, there are people who as a result of parental pressure choose studying and working which they do not luxuriate in from their doing. in spite of the fact that they have a well-paid job but they leave their work and decide to pursue their favorites in order to having a feeling of satisfy which results in maintaining a healthy lifestyle.

To conclude, by counting the positive points of contentment at the workplace ~~in as mentioned~~ above, ~~i-I~~ absolutely believe that job satisfaction ~~is-outweighs out-weight than~~ the highest ~~salary-salaries and~~ also it is more beneficial because it makes people feel happiness and motivation.