

Alireza Davari <alireza.davari@icloud.com>

11:04 AM (47 minutes ago)

to me

Nowadays, people get married and have children after the age of thirty. Is it a positive or negative development? Give your opinion and examples based on your experience.

It is a fact that these days, the percentage of people marrying after the age of thirty is dramatically increasing and also one of today's controversial issues among younger generations is the right age of marriage ~~that which one of its positive and negative aspects is more important?~~

On the one hand, some people argue that with the passage of time the chance of pregnancy in women ~~become~~ decreases so that the ladies who face after marrying at an old age ~~with~~ the risk of infertility ~~have increased~~ increases. Moreover, in the older age different kinds of diseases are growing rapidly which their symptoms are very harmful for the new born babies. Furthermore, the health problems occur between the ages of thirty to forty years. This is a common occurrence among the working people particularly women who are planning to conceive ~~in at an~~ advanced age which may lead ~~s~~ to failure so that they will pay a bigger price than they bargained for.

On the other hand, others believe that getting married late is a favorable trend as it allows individuals to enjoy their youth and also get ~~ting~~ financially secure prior to taking ~~up on~~ the new responsibilities after marriage so that this trend has become popular among the younger people. For example, in my country, it is very hard to survive in this situation of the inflationary pressures if you do not have a high-income job. Therefore, people especially young ones enter the institution of marriage and start to form family in the third-fourth decade of their lives. This ~~hives gives~~ them time to lead an insouciant and enjoyable life. For this reason, couples postpone the idea of a child at the earlier age and set their mind to achieve ~~achieving~~ their goals as well.

Ultimately, although there may be negative aspects to ~~tie the knot~~ matrimony and having children after thirty, in my opinion, this development practice offers a great deal of benefits to youngsters as it allows them to save wealth to be able to support both their married life and the life of their children as well as giving sufficient time to people to revel in their lives and hence I personally believe that every young person should sift out the results of this issue before taking an irresponsible decision.