

Some people believe that children should be allowed to stay at home and play until they are six or seven years old. Others believe it is important for young children to go to school as soon as possible.

What do you think are the advantages of attending school from young age?

In the present century, parents wonder if their children should attend school before the age of six or seven while the majority of them work for a long period of time, so nursery schools or kindergartens are the other choice for children instead of staying at home up to the age of starting the primary school with little-fewer opportunities.

today, there are controversial debates as to whether is it appropriate for a child to enter the school from a very tender age because the most critical period of children's life is their first five years and this may cause damage to children's relationship with their parents or contribute to lose-losing their entertainment of the childhood. Also, it might lead to developing some immoral habits like fighting or bullying.

However, there are lots of benefits to starting the preschool curriculum because a child at an early age is more talented and can cultivate remarkable skills such as confidence, self-esteem and problem-solving, so exposing him or her to nurturing and education can guarantee that they get off to a perfect start. Moreover, coordination and social skills can be gained via schooling at the young age which can be difficult or frightening for children, starting the first day of school at the age of six. On the other hand, these atmospheres provide creative activities when they are equipped with diverse accessories like learning toys and colorful textures-environments in the space.

In conclusion, children starting school at an early age are likely to more-encouraged-to-some-reinforce their positive positive-reinforcement-of-their actions like interacting with others or learning the sense of responsibility. Furthermore, the children's training can be for a short-term during a day to spend the rest of the time with their parents.