

Some people think that newly built houses should follow the style of the old houses in the local areas, while others think that people should have freedom to build houses of their own styles. Discuss both views and give your own opinion.

There are different views on the style of houses that are erected (to be erected) in neighborhood. While some ~~think~~ argue/maintain that new houses should be built in the same design as old ones, others believe that freedom should be given to individuals to construct houses of their own design (and favoured taste). (I agree with the second view, and I would argue on both points of view ~~and~~.)

On one side of the argument there are some people who think that new houses which ~~is~~ are built should blend in with the existing architectural style of a local area. In terms of the tangible cultural heritage of a small towns or villages, ~~Traditional houses maintain~~ the spirit of their culture and custom, and they give a strong sense of identity to the locality. ~~Whereas~~ whereas contemporary design of houses s and even high-rise buildings s are incompatible with old one. From an architectural perspective, modern houses alongside traditional dwellings are an eyesore. As a result, a local area may lose its standard of aesthetics hence local dwellers would not ~~be able to~~ have enjoy the view of the vicinity.

On the other hand, some believe that local authorities should permit individuals to build houses s with their own architectural design (should permit individuals to have the right to opt for their architectural design freely). People also tend to dismiss traditional ideas in terms of building costs. To be more precise, traditional construction materials like giant natural stones s from local quarries are difficult to excavate and also is expensive. Furthermore, the maintenance cost of houses constructed in ~~the~~ the old ways s tends s to be higher compared with modern ones.

In conclusion , it is believed by some people that it is essential to give individuals s a-the freedom to build their own style of house , meanwhile others argue that building of current home should follow a uniform traditional style . I personally agree with the first opinion.
