

Happiness is considered very important in life.

Why is it difficult to define?

What factors are important in achieving happiness?

Give reasons for your answer and include any relevant examples from your own knowledge or experience.

99

Looking for pleasure in all around the world, People cannot find a clear-cut acceptable definition because of different situations and reasons which that people feel cheerful. However, we can find some common items which help people to feel happiness.

Not only is happiness is not a determined and permanent situation among the people, but also it is related to time, place and other conditions. For example students think that they will be happy, if they succeed in university exams and teenagers who are studying in universities are looking for happiness in their relation with their boyfriends or girlfriends. Asian people are looking for immigrate-immigrating to the U.S and American people think that their society is full of discrimination which renders them dissatisfied people. However, most of the people think that they cannot be happy, if they do not have not enough healthy enough body and mind. It is very clear that happiness is related to the place, time and vision of the people. That is why it is very hard to find a precise definition for happiness.

Although defining a comprehensive sentence meaning for gladness is not easy, we can select some factors which are contribute in to feeling feeling happiness among the individuals. For one, easing the way for achieving their passions, wealth and enough money have proper effect. For instance, we cannot imagine a family which who do not have a not suitable home or clothes and claim they are feel a pleasant life. For another, without a peaceful world and country, it is very hard to be happy. Moreover, health and family is are the other items which in turn result in feeling an enjoyable life. I have heard about the people who are wealthy and successful in their job and education but because of an illness in their family they have do not feel a happiness yet.

To sum up, happiness is a very complex concept and is occasioned by contributing a wide range of factors items such as wealth, health, family.