

Do you agree or disagree with the following statement? Famous entertainers and athletes deserve to have more privacy than they have now. Use specific reasons and examples to support your answer.

It is no secret that famous people's privacy is not always respected. Many people wonder whether it is ok to know about their secrets and dark sides since they are idols to many teenagers and people think that they should be a responsible and a good citizen aside from their work on the field or on the TV screen. I personally think that we should respect their ~~privacies~~ privacy and give them their personal space. In what follows I will elucidate my point of view.

The most important reason is that these celebrities are normal people like us. No matter how much our salary differs from ~~them~~ theirs, we should not stick our nose into their business and judge their actions and behaviors. For example, if I go to a restaurant with my friends, I do not want to be disrupted by people who want to take pictures with me. I want to have a nice meal and have a good time with my besties. I also do not want pictures from me in the restaurant appearing ~~on~~ in tomorrow's newspapers. So that is one reason for why we should respect their private lives.

Another significant point to be mentioned is that by talking about the famous we can eventually cause harm to their personal lives. The more enthusiastic we are about their personal stories, the more fake news is published about them ~~on~~ in the newspapers and on social media. For instance, Justin Timberlake was not wearing his wedding ring when he was out with a female friend of his. So the social media started accusing him of cheating on his wife which was not the case at all. Although his marriage did not end, his wife had a hard time believing him because of all the talk there was about Timberlake and that girl. So if we stop talking about their personal issues, the media will not profit from making false news and accusations about these prominent entertainers.

To sum up, I contend that we should not talk about their personal sides. Just like us, they have secrets that they do not want anybody to find out about ~~them~~ and they do not want their relationships and their personal lives to be affected by irrational news.
