

Some people who have been in prison become good citizens later, and it is often argued that these are the best people to talk to teenagers about the danger of committing a crime.

To what extent do you agree or disagree?

It is true that many people believe that ex-prisoners are the best people for convince teenagers to avoid for committing crimes, they help them to be good adults. I agree to some extent.

One of the best effective way for preventing criminal is that, ex-prisoners should have told their experiences of prison term to young ages to be aware of consequences of criminal behavior. Because of this, teenagers don't seek to committing a crime in elderly ages and they try to avoid any offense. So, crime rate considerably reduce among people and it would ~~be~~ lead to more secure and peacefulness in society. For instance, in country in which they have strict punishment, ex-prisoners ~~advises advice have has been~~ caused a decrease in ~~violents~~ violence. To elaborate, teenagers have ~~been~~ understood various punishment and they don't do any offense.

Some people have different views. They believe that there are several situations s would be leading ing to aware ness of teenagers instead of talking ex-prisoners. They also claim that advises of prisoners would have less impact on teenagers behavior or it can may be negative consequences on their life. Families as a major role in teenagers' personality always teach them frequently to make a progress in their future life. In addition, governments s should ~~have provided~~ educational infrastructure such as produce the programmes which ~~are~~ show criminal protection. Therefore, children choose the best path which can contribute to a better life and they ~~are~~ get away from ~~delict~~ law violation.

For example in the USA crime rates have ~~been~~ decreased d over the period. Because families spend a lot of time to guide guiding their children. Also, they have always ~~teach~~ taught them to make a right decision and ~~preserve~~ prevent them ~~for~~ from committing a crime.

In conclusion, although, talking ~~to prisoners~~ prisoners getting out of prisons more beneficial for preventing criminal, ~~but,~~ In my ~~my~~ view it has some drawbacks and would be the equal importance ~~to teach them~~ tought ~~in~~ from families.
